

Milwaukie's Local Leaders

Providing places to go

Four or five times a week, volunteer Transportation Reaching People (TRP) driver Paul Van Houte is on the road helping his senior and disabled passengers in Milwaukie.

Driving for TRP, a program administered by Clackamas County Social Services Volunteer Connection, Paul uses his own car to help people who need to get to medical appointments and other important destinations.

"The number of people who express their appreciation is really tremendous," Paul said. "Without this program, many of these people would feel trapped. They feel good to go places."

Paul Van Houte

Paul has been helping our community as a volunteer driver for three years and he says he gets as much as he gives.

"I go places I've never been and I meet people I never would have met," Paul said. "And of course just helping other people is very satisfying."

Transportation Reaching People is currently seeking volunteers who can help out in the Milwaukie area. Volunteers receive a mileage allowance, training and supplemental liability insurance. All rides originate in Clackamas County and the destinations are limited to the Tri-County area. To get more information about volunteering call the program's coordinator, Tom Connolly at (503) 655-8604.

Annexation vote nears

Before voters submit their ballots regarding Ballot Measure 3-166 on May 17th, the measure that asks Milwaukie residents if they wish to annex to Fire District No. 1, there are three basic things City leaders hope voters will keep in mind.

First and foremost, annexing to the Fire District will not increase taxes. The ballot measure requires the City to reduce its property taxes by the same amount the Fire District would levy, $2.40 per $1,000 of assessed value, if the measure were to gain voter approval.

Second, annexation is the best and most efficient way to ensure Milwaukie's citizens will receive fire suppression and emergency medical response services. The City has contracted with the District for these services for the past seven years, and the contract expires in 2008. Through annexation, the City and District will be able to stabilize this relationship.

Finally, the measure's language ensures taxes can't be raised in the future without voter approval.

If you have questions about Measure 3-166, please call Information Coordinator Grady Wheeler at (503) 786-7503.

City lands street funds

Armed with the $450,000 in federal transportation dollars Metro allocated by Metro on March 24th, the City will be able to dramatically upgrade the Downtown streetscape by introducing historical street lighting, street trees, improved sidewalks, benches and angled parking to four blocks near City Hall and adjacent to the North Main Village project.

The money was allocated through the regional government's Metro Transportation Improvement Project. The improvements follow the City's adopted Downtown & Riverfront Plan — a plan seeking to create a more visibly attractive and pedestrian-friendly Downtown core.

The improvements will be coordinated with the North Main Village project. Check future editions of The Pilot for details.

Riverfront plaza

One of the principle objectives of the McLoughlin Improvement Project slated for the latter part of this summer is to connect the Downtown to the Riverfront.

The Desmet Plaza will do just that and much, much more. The Desmet Plaza, named for Peter J. Desmet, an early Milwaukie settler, is designed to create a gateway to Milwaukie Riverfront Park.

Please see Desmet Plaza on page 2

Building bonds to City

This month's Councilor Column is written by Councilor Susan Stone. To contact Susan call (503) 786-7512 or send an email to stones@ci.milwaukie.or.us.

I have lived in the City of Milwaukie for nearly 25 years and have been actively involved in City activities for nearly thirteen of them.

It was through the Ardenwald/Johnson Creek Neighborhood Association that my involvement in City affairs began. Prior to becoming involved in my Neighborhood Association, I never really felt a connection and bond to my neighborhood and my government.

Now, with the experience firmly rooted in my life, I would strongly encourage citizens who have not yet participated in their community to consider doing so. Start by going to your Neighborhood Association meetings and learn about projects you can help bring to fruition. You will be rewarded ten-fold with new friendships and feel a sense of belonging and renewal of spirit as you extend your life experience into your community.

I am so impressed with the leadership of our Neighborhood Associations and the support of our City staff that work tirelessly to ensure citizens have an outlet of communication and link to their government. We are very lucky to have such a talented and cooperative group of people striving to connect us all together to further the positive growth and enhancement of our community.

We are very fortunate to live in a City that feels like a small town destined for greatness. We encourage citizens and business owners to be involved in projects such as the re-birth of our Riverfront Park via participation in a collaborative process through Governor Kulongoski's Oregon Solutions project. We welcome citizen input at all levels, be it at Council meetings, Saturday Council Coffee's, phone and e-mail communication or being a member of an advisory Board or Commission.

It seems that almost everywhere you turn there is some avenue of potential involvement which captures the essence of what it means to live in our town. From upcoming events such as Earth Day and Neighborhood Clean-up to summer concerts in the park, there is opportunity for community participation.

The Ardenwald/Johnson Creek Neighborhood Association is planning such an event on May 14th when we stage our first Spring Garden Tour. Just as you will be amazed at the wonderful people you meet when you become involved in your community, you will be awed at the hidden jewels of landscape that exist right here in Milwaukie. 📍

Our Center needs you

On any given day between 300 to 500 people come through the Milwaukie Center's doors to meet friends, participate in activities, access services or attend classes and workshops.

Another 300 or more people in our community receive services from the Milwaukie Center each day - through transportation, Meals on Wheels, staff and volunteer visitations and more.

The Center is rarely closed - weekends and evenings it is used by the community for meetings, wedding receptions, retirement parties and more.

But now this incredible community asset needs your help. The Center has an advisory board and it is currently recruiting for three open positions for City of Milwaukie residents.

The Center/ Community Advisory Board serves in advisory regarding any issues related to the Milwaukie Center facility, programs and services; and community concerns regarding older adults and people with disabilities.

For more information please contact Center Director, Joan Young, at (503) 653-8100. 📍

Event set for cemetery

Local Boy Scouts will hold a pair of flag ceremonies on Memorial Day, May 30th, at Milwaukie Pioneer Cemetery at 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Members of the Milwaukie Pioneer Cemetery Association will be on hand all three days of the holiday weekend to answer questions and assist in locating loved ones or some of the City's historical figures.

Dolly Macken Hambright, the chair of the non-profit Association that has been in existence for more than a year, reports the group has enjoyed "great support from the community and the City of Milwaukie" in the past year and their members have made quite a dent in cleaning up the grounds.

Dolly says the Association has been busily updating the Cemetery's burial records and that a new, nearly complete list and other information can be viewed Memorial Day weekend at the Cemetery, located on SE 17th Ave, near Waverly Drive. She says parking is safest in the warehouse lot directly across SE 17th Avneue from the Cemetery. 📍

Museum opens doors

Every year the Milwaukie Museum hosts its Open House and unveils a publication that chronicles an aspect of Milwaukie's history.

This year's Open House will be held on May 13th, from 3 to 8 p.m. and the book to be introduced is "Milwaukie Churches, 1850 – Present." The book is researched and written by the Museum's curator, Madalaine Bohl, and she explains the book examines the history of the almost 40 churches of the Milwaukie area, with some dating back all the way to the 1850's.

The Open House provides residents an opportunity for those unfamiliar with the Museum to see all it has to offer.

The historic farmhouse located on 3737 SE Adams Street is packed with artifacts and primary documents that illustrate how our City has grown throughout the years.

For more information, please call (503) 659-5780. 📍

The entry plaza will be located at the end of the newly signalized intersection of McLoughlin and Monroe and will reuse some of the bricks from the nearby Kroll building, the former home of Vic's Tavern, to create an ornamental design for the plaza. The Kroll building and neighboring antique shop will be removed prior to construction.

The plaza will feature benches and the relocated Desmet Historical Marker, which used to be near Jefferson Street. 📍

Keep it Green

Ever been so frustrated with your home computer or so annoyed by your cell phone you just wanted to throw them away? Well, now's your chance.

Clackamas County is holding a Computer & Cell Phone Recycling Event on: Saturday, May 21st; 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; County's Sunnybrook Service Center (9101 SE Sunnybrook Blvd., Clackamas).

You can unload computers, monitors, printers, hard drives and yes, cell phones for $10 per car. For more information, please call (503) 353-4461.

By picking up a home compost bin at Metro's annual sale you can recycle your grass clippings, leaves, fruit and vegetable scraps into magic for your house plants or garden.

The bins will be on sale for $35 and will be available at the same Sunnybrook location as detailed above, but on Saturday, May 14th from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. ☐

Buckle Up!

With the support of state grant money Milwaukie Police will be sending out extra traffic patrols from May 23rd through June 5th to focus on tightening up seat belt compliance.

Last year's "Seat Belt Blitz" resulted in more than 700 seat belt citations, so buckle up and avoid a ticket, and more importantly, keep yourself safe. ☐

View "Secret Gardens"

Take a tour of some of Milwaukie's most secret and beautiful gardens and help support Ardenwald Elementary's after school programs at the very same time.

The Ardenwald/Johnson Creek Neighborhood Association is organizing a tour of seven of their Neighborhood's finest gardens and the gardeners responsible for all of the natural beauty to be displayed will be on hand to answer questions and to share their techniques.

To take part show up at Ardenwald Elementary (9850 SE 36th Ave.) on Saturday, May 14th anytime between 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and a Neighborhood volunteer will be on hand to help get you started. Donations of $5 are suggested to benefit the Ardenwald School after hours programs. ☐

North Main design nears finish

Construction documents for the North Main Village are 75% complete and are expected to be submitted to the City's Planning Department by mid-May.

Groundbreaking for the project is projected for the end of summer.

The project, located at the old Safeway site, will be comprised of five buildings, feature 97 housing units and 9,496 square feet of commercial/retail space. All told the project will create 86,064 square feet of new Downtown development.

Recent renderings of the project generated by the developer, Main Street Partners, LLC, show the buildings will exhibit a variety of architectural styles, spanning from more of a traditional look to the more modern.

North Main Village central plaza & fountain

One of the most unique aspects of the project is a water feature in the the Village's central plaza that takes rain-water and runoff and funnels the water into a fountain.

For more information about the project please call City Project Manager Jeff King at (503) 786-7609. ☐

Don't forget chance to dump junk

Just a quick reminder, Down to Earth Day is just days away! On Saturday, May 7th, the City of Milwaukie and your local garbage haulers will provide Dumpsters at three convenient Milwaukie locations so you can unload the junk that's been hanging around your house and property at a fee that's next to nothing.

Collection sites include:

- Linwood Elementary (11909 SE Linwood)
- Ardenwald Elementary (8950 SE 36th Ave.)
- Seth Lewelling School (5325 SE Logus)

The sites will be open to the public from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Cars arriving at the sites after 1:30 p.m. will be turned away.

For more information please call JoAnn Herrigel at (503) 786-7508. ☐

The City Code Corner

With spring upon us, many of us will not get to all of the projects we had planned all winter.

For some this may include a new fence to spruce up our properties.

But did you know that the City of Milwaukie has an ordinance dealing with fence heights?

Basically, in residential zones, the maximum height for fences is six feet for your rear, street side and side yards.

For the portion standing in the front of your house, including the front property line, 42 inches is as tall as you may go with a fence.

There are additional regulations for flag lots.

Should you have any questions about fences, give our Planning Department a call before you start construction so you do not inadvertently run afoul of your City's zoning ordinance. You can get a hold of the City's "planner of the day" at (503) 786-7630. ☐

AROUND TOWN

The Around Town section gives elected Neighborhood Leaders an opportunity to interpret issues facing their community as well as promote greater neighborhood involvement. As a result of this open forum the opinions presented may not always represent the attitudes of the City or of the author's entire Neighborhood. NEXT MEETING'S INFO:

When: May 5th, 7 p.m. • Where: Lewelling Elementary

Well it's finished. Our grant application to fund Lewelling Neighborhood Park is completed and submitted. We asked for nearly $200,000 from state lottery funds to complete the ambitious project we started nearly six years ago.

If you've been by lately you've seen lots of things are going on out there. We would like to thank the work crew who helped pick up five yards of rocks from the fill we received and a special thanks go to the Neighborhood members who helped too.

If you think you missed out on helping, think again! We need people to come to Salem for one afternoon in June to show support. The grant goes before a commission for the final decision and the more people who show up the more likely it is to be funded. We are looking into transportation, we just need people to fill seats. It's about time that Milwaukie gets some of the state grant money.

We are having our Rummage Sale this month on the 21st and 22nd. Mark those days on the calendar. We still need donations – if you have any please call (503) 341-3702 – and any help but most of all we need people to come and shop. There are tons of great deals to be had.

On July 30th we are having our annual Picnic in the Park, all are welcome and the food is free. One last thing, the Riverfest Parade is back on and we are looking for ideas and volunteers from the school to create the winning float this year. More information will follow. I'll see you at the next meeting, and remember they only last an hour and we provide childcare.

Where: Ardenwald Elem.

The Ardenwald Johnson Creek Neighborhood Association will be electing new officers at its May meeting, so if you want to play a role in creating the community you want to live in, consider running for office.

I have loved presiding over this great group of neighbors, but it has gotten to be too much work when combined with my duties as one of your City Councilors. Besides, I see tremendous leadership in our Association, and it's time to let some new folks take over.

Being a Neighborhood officer can take as much or as little time as you let it. What I didn't know when I signed up was that being a Neighborhood leader automatically makes you a City leader. That's right. Milwaukie is a City of Neighborhoods.

Neighborhood leaders guide us in everything we as a City do. This is an especially important role now, as Milwaukie is beginning to redevelop Downtown, Riverfront Park, and our Neighborhoods. So help make Milwaukie the City of your dreams. Join your Neighborhood Association and become a leader.

Oh, and don't miss our two big events in May: Neighborhood Cleanup Day on Saturday May 7th from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.;

The Ardenwald/Johnson Creek Neighborhood "Secret Garden Tour" will showcase the Neighborhoods most impressive gardens on May 14th (see page 3 for more information).

and our tour of Secret Gardens in Ardenwald – May 14th, beginning at 9:30 a.m. (see related stories on page 1 and page 3).

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:

When: May 9th, 7 p.m. • Where: Public Safety Building

At our May meeting we will have guests from the City's Water Department and from the Storm Water Department to talk about wells, the potential effects of this year's drought, water runoff and our rising rates.

In May we'll also hold elections for our Neighborhood Association. If you're looking to make an investment in your community, please attend our next meeting and offer your time and ideas for the betterment of the Neighborhood.

Some extra incentive to attend our May and June meetings – we'll be giving away brand-new smoke detectors as door prizes. So drop by, learn about your Neighborhood and WIN!

At our April meeting we voted to support grants for the Milwaukie Center and two T-Ball teams. We also voted to support the ball fields plans for North Clackamas Park with the condition that the road into and the intersection at Rusk Road are improved.

Looking ahead, we have a work party scheduled for Minthorn Park on May 21st from 9 a.m. to noon. Please come out and help us maintain our park. For more information please call our good neighbor and friend Sarah Smith at (503) 653-0015. Finally, please be sure to vote on the Fire District Annexation Measure. Please send in those ballots now!

HISTORIC MILWAUKIE

Written by Ed Zumwalt, Chair

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:

When: May 9th, 6:30 p.m.

Where: Milwaukie Elementary

A couple of developments from local governments have me confused. Is there a breath of fresh air wafting through or would that be wishful thinking?

According to an article in The Oregonian, Metro's 2040 Plan of Regional and Town Centers is not quite working out. As a matter of fact, many critics think Metro's approach is flawed. Ten years since the Plan's adoption, designated centers are barely outgrowing non-centers. Reasons cited: landowners and developers concentrating on malls and apartments; density fears; environmental regulations; and voter distaste for urban renewal.

Some experts bluntly state that Metro is relying too much on high concept policy planning and regulation to force 2040's centers into being. Seems like there's a snake loose in the New Urbanism Garden of Eden.

Closer to home another confusing statement came from a Milwaukie goal-setting meeting. As quoted in the same publication a high-ranking official suggested preserving the City's livability should be a preeminent goal for our future. Oh, really? Every time anyone from our Neighborhood mentions livability we are accused of stifling progress growth and prosperity.

As the old story goes, our destiny is tied to our density. Maybe somewhere between Metro's idealistic New Urbanism on one end and the much-maligned urban sprawl on the other we can find what we crave in this little gem of a town – Livability.

LAKE ROAD

Written by Bob Moore, Chair

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:

When: May 11th, 6:30 p.m. • Where: Clackamas ESD

With the newspaper presenting a "new" food diet triangle and an upcoming parade with a theme of "Get Moving with Milwaukie" this summer, they tell me I need to eat better and exercise.

To see examples of what I need to do, I drove down Lake Road during one pleasant afternoon where I saw all sorts of activities residents were enjoying or in the act of supporting. I saw lawn mowing, running, bicycling, softball, tennis, skate boarding, or just plain strolling. I worked up a sweat just watching.

Seeing the vision of what makes people enjoy their lives and their family members are prerequisites for planning the future for living together. This shows up as parks everyone can use, streets with bike lanes and sidewalks, properly equipped schools, trees and zoning for industry and retail.

As the City grows and changes the volunteers of our Neighborhood meet every month to discuss how we might be affected. This helps our City be reactive to those concerns.

We have a talented and strong City staff that works for us. We are responsible for seeing a future of how we want to live here. We need to hear more from you. I enjoy this City and am helping shape its future. You can too.

ISLAND STATION

Written by Lisa Batey, Chair

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:

When: May 19th, 6:30 p.m. • Where: Milwaukie Grange

The weather didn't keep 24 volunteers from showing up for our third SOLV Earth Day event on April 23rd and helping remove about 5,000 lbs of laurel and other invasive plant material from Spring Park.

The volunteers included both "regulars" and lots of new faces, from not only Island Station but also Lake Road, Ardenwald, and Hector Campbell Neighborhoods.

Thanks to all, and especially to Starbucks, which in addition to volunteers provided coffee, cookies and scones for everyone.

There are two more opportunities to improve your community on Saturday, May 7th: First, you have a chance to see — and contribute to — some of the great habitat restoration work that has been done over the past two years at a nature walk and ivy pull on Elk Rock Island. Meet at 19th Ave. and Sparrow at 9 a.m. Call Charles Bird at (503)318-5065 for more info.

Also, the City is looking for volunteers to assist (direct traffic, help unload vehicles, etc.) with the Down to Earth Day trash drop off sites at three local schools. Call Milwaukie's Community Services Manager, JoAnn Herrigel, at (503)786-7508 to volunteer.

LINWOOD

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:

When: May 12th

Where: Linwood Elementary

Stewart Taylor, City Financial Director, introduced himself as our new City liaison. We look forward to working with him and bid Jason Wachs, our former liaison, good luck in the future as he moves to the Seattle area.

Brian Stegner, Milwaukie Covenant Church youth pastor, gave an overview of the proposed SK8 (skate board) Park on the church's property, anticipated to open to area youth in the near future.

The park will include portable equipment, a $5 annual fee, posted rules for use, be open 3-4 days per week and is designed to provide a safe place for youth to interact with adults.

Neighborhood folks voiced some strong concerns regarding issues that have affected residents near the church in the past. In order to reduce impacts to neighbors MCC has agreed to move the existing tables/benches currently near their western boundary to the east side, which would provide better visibility from Linwood Avenue and increase safety for youth using the area. They also agreed to confine the proposed skating area to that eastern side.

Our next meeting will include elections for board members and a discussion regarding applying for grant funds for the insurance to enable MCC to move forward with the skate park.
